Sid Says:

THIS LITTLE BOOKLET WILL SAVE YOU MONEY.

It has always been our aim to give more value for the money than any other grower of Gladiolus and Dahlias. So this year instead of our usual catalogue, we are giving you a condensed list of plants and bulbs at greatly reduced prices. Our saving is your saving.

This pocket edition for 1928 will give you full growing, planting and storing directions, with an addition of several new varieties of plants and bulbs. An illustrated catalogue only means higher prices to you, and no better stock. Why not cut the price of the catalogue and give you the benefit of lower prices? I hope that this method of distribution will meet with your approval.

This year we are emphasizing our Come-Again Collections of both Dahlias and Gladiolus. You will find these collections on pages 8 and 14. I know that if you try them, you will come again and buy from Ford. Never were there such values offered for the money.

ORDER EARLY. Last Spring our business almost tripled over night. With our regular force, it was almost impossible for us, working sixteen hours a day, to give you the service we always like to render our patrons. However, this year, we are better equipped to serve you and trust that no delays will occur.

Remember, every plant and bulb sent out by us is guaranteed true to name, and sure to grow. If you have ever in the past received any stock from us that has proven otherwise, we will gladly replace it this year.

I hope that this little booklet will be a service as well as a saving to you.

SIDNEY E. FORD,
Manager.

How to Grow and Store Gladiolus

Gladiolus are quite hardy, and can be planted as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

In this climate we start planting about April 1st, continuing to June 20th, this giving us a continual bloom until frost.

In preparing the soil, we find the use of well-rotted manure gives the best results. (Be sure it is well rotted). It should be plowed or spaded into the soil to a depth of at least 6 inches.

In planting in drills, furrow or dig out to about 6 inches deep. Sprinkle on one side of drill a good potato fertilizer; then rake in, mixing the fertilizer with the soil, until the drill is about 4 inches deep. The potato fertilizer is simply to give the bulbs a good start, and the manure to carry out the further development. Avoid using new manure, as it is high in ammonia, making it very harmful. New manure can be used if spaded or plowed into the ground in the fall. In case you cannot get well-rotted manure, sheep dressing is very good.

Many growers use a combination of potato fertilizer and bone meal, mixed in equal parts. Gladioli can be grown in this way with very good results, but the flowers do not stand up as well, the petals not having as heavy a texture as when grown with manure.

The bulbs should be planted at least 4 inches deep, and from 4 to 6 inches apart, to get best results. We plant in double rows, in drills at least two feet apart. Gladioli can be planted in beds, like tulips. In this case we advise planting a mixture of early, mid-summer, and late varieties, thus giving a continual bloom.

Gladioli grown in a hedge, with dahlias as a background, make a beautiful showing. In doing this be sure to leave a space of at least 2½ feet between gladioli and dahlias, to prevent any possible shading by the dahlias.

Avoid shady places, as gladioli grow best in the open. In case the season is dry a good watering once every ten days or two weeks is very beneficial. Soak the soil to a depth of 6 inches or more. A light watering does more harm than good, as it gives the feeders a tendency to work toward the surface, rather than downward. After a rain, or watering, the soil should be stirred to a depth of 1 to 1½ inches, to retain the moisture.

Gladioli should be dug as soon as the foliage begins to turn brown. After digging, cut the tops back close to the bulbs.

Then spread out to a depth of not more than 2 or 3 inches, to dry, in a place where there is a good circulation of air.

In about two weeks they should be sufficiently dry so that the old bulb roots and the bulblets can be removed. After doing this, place in shallow boxes, not more than 3 inches deep. Store in a good, cool, dry cellar, before there is any danger of freezing.

These directions for cleaning and storing should be followed, for if the roots are allowed to stay on too long, or stored in boxes which are too deep, the bulbs are liable to rot, or become diseased.

How to Grow and Store Dahlias

Unlike the Gladiolus, the Dahlia does not require too rich a soil. We find a good potato fertilizer the best. Heavy fertilization causes plants to run to foliage rather than bloom.

Tubers should be planted at least 4 to 6 inches deep, and 2 feet or more apart. Mix well in the soil of the hill a small handful of fertilizer; then place the tuber flat down. Do not stand tuber on end.

If season is dry, a good watering once every week or ten days is very beneficial. Soak the soil to a depth of at least 6 inches. A light sprinkling of water is more harmful than beneficial, for it gives the feeders a tendency to work toward the surface, rather than down. After rain, or watering, the soil should be stirred to a depth of from 1 to 1½ inches to retain the moisture. It is a good plan to hill the plants, same as potatoes.

In planting Dahlias, select a sunny location, for they do not thrive in the shade.

In the fall, the tubers should be dug and stored in a cool, dry cellar, having an even temperature of 40 to 45 degrees.

As soon as dug in the field, cut the stalks about 2 or 4 inches from the crown. Pack in boxes or bins, with the crown down, to prevent the moisture in the stalk from working down into the tubers, as this will cause rot.

Care should be taken to keep the tubers from too much air circulation or heat, as this is liable to cause them to dry and shrivel. For small lots we find it the best plan to pack tubers in dry sand.

In the spring, divide the clumps in such a manner that each division includes a part of the crown having at least one eye. These eyes, or sprouts, as they are sometimes called, will begin to show up in the spring, thus making dividing easy.

PHLOX

There is no class of perennials which give more satisfaction in borders or planting in groups. In color they range from pure white to the richest crimson and purple, and from soft rose to salmon to bright coral red, all having a delicate fragrance. Its long season of bloom, from July to September, makes it most desirable as a hedge or border plant, filling in the space after other perennials have ceased to bloom. We list 10 varieties of proven merit. 25c each, $2.50 per dozen, mixed or in separate colors.

PEONIES

Few flowers have become more popular in recent years than the Peonies. Below we list 10 of the most popular medium price standard varieties. 75c each.

Delicatissima Flowers of soft pink, changing to nearly white. Early	Madame De Verneville Pure white center blush fading to white, prominent carmine flecks
Felix Crousse Large red	Modeste Guerin Bright solferino pink
Festiva Maxima White flowers flecked with crimson in center	Mons. Jules Elie Pale lilac-rose, shading to rich amber at the base
Lady Bramwell Pale lilac-rose, the center petals creamy white at the tips	Richardson's Perfection Light flesh; white center
Louis Van Houtte Brilliant velvety cerise red	Rubra Superba Deep crimson blossoms

REGALE LILY

This new variety from Western China is admittedly one of the most beautiful Garden Lilies yet introduced. It grows 3 to 5 feet high, and blooms out of doors in July. It is perfectly hardy, and flourishes under varied conditions. The large, trumpet shaped, delicately scented flowers, which are produced freely, are ivory white, shaded pink, tinged with canary yellow at the base of the petals. Strong flowering bulbs.

$.50 each. $5.00 per dozen

PANSIES

Our Pansies are far superior to the common large flowered or bedding strains. The flowers are much larger, and of heavier texture. What is more beautiful than a Pansy bed in early spring or late fall, when there are no other flowers in bloom? We specialize in Pansies, and our plants are in a class by themselves. $.60 per dozen; $4.00 per hundred. 25 may be had at 100 rate.

Strawberries

We list three, which from our experience prove to be the best all-round varieties.

Plants: Doz... 50c; 25... 75c; 100 $2.00.

The Abington

One of the earliest of the large fruiting varieties. The berries are large and beautifully formed. The surface of the fruit is a deep glossy red; the meat is solid and rich. An ideal berry for home use.

The Howard 17

A mid-season variety, one that may be depended upon to produce a large crop of fruit every season. The plants are splendid growers on any soil. The fruit is large and uniform, and of extra sweet flavor. As a canner it is unsurpassed. The berries are excellent for shipping, making it one of the best commercial varieties.

Big Joe

A very late variety of extra fine flavor. Berries are large and heavy in texture, making them an excellent market berry as well as for the home garden. We have known these berries to bear a week after all other varieties are gone.

BLACKBERRY PLANTS THE FORD

This new variety, created by us in 1921. It is a seedling from the Blower Blackberry, and is much more hardy. The fruiting season is much longer; in fact it is really an everbearing variety. The fruit much larger and better formed than the Blower. Berries are a deep, glossy black, with solid, rich meat, making it excellent for shipping and keeping. For canning it is unsurpassed. This berry took first prize 1924-1925 at the Massachusetts Horticultural Society Exhibition, in competition with other varieties grown throughout New England. (See cut above). Stock limited.
